

CHATEAU HAUT-BRION

PREMIER GRAND CRU CLASSÉ EN 1855

1989 Vintage

The Climate

An historically early year. Throughout the period of growth, the weather was especially warm, sunny and dry. The conditions were thus ideal for budding, flowering, the véraison (onset of ripening) ripening and the harvest. An outstanding year can only produce an outstanding wine.

Tasting note

The wine is very aromatic and harmonious with incredibly mellowed tannins and quite low acidity. It could be assumed it will be a powerful wine, yet at the same time one with plenty of subtlety and harmony. Through its structure and smoothness, this wine is reminiscent of 1959 both in terms of the weather and the volume of the harvest.
